CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Fresh Ranch Butter from the ranch of J. H. White at Wolcott's Cash Store. 8 1/2c

Every one in Tombstone will be pleased to hear of the appointment of Col. Wm. Herring as attorney general of our territory unless it will take him away from Tombstone, in which case it will not receive their sanction.

While all the cities of Arizona which were not damaged by the recent flood are crowding over their good fortune, Tombstone has been mired on that point. The recent flood on the 600 level has taught us to be polite at the proper time.

It would be advisable for the Bible society to send a man up to Florence and Phenix with marked copies of the New Testament, wherein is the parable of the men who built their respective habitations one upon the sand and the other upon the rock.

THE Two Republics reads the following lines of common sense to a Mexican paper which has been trying to stir up a feeling against the United States: "It is folly for a Mexican journalist to quote history forty years old in order to illustrate the present attitude of the United States toward Mexico. If there was a time when the two republics were at war, there has been an epoch since when the United States proved itself a friend indeed to Mexico—in fact her only friend in a position to help her."

THE defeat of Otero of New Mexico, for Congress last year deprived our national legislature of a brilliant mind. An idea of the intellect of the family is given by the Landsburg Liberal, which publishes two bills that were introduced by Mr. Otero in the New Mexican legislature, last week:

Bill 52 provides that every person who has meat in his, or her household register with the nearest officer a description of the brands and marks of the animal and a description of the same, color, hair, age and race, under a fine which would go to the school fund.

Bill 62 provides that every justice of the peace when he receives a copy of the session laws, shall assemble the people of his precinct and read to them every law of interest to them. This is to save the expense of having them published in newspapers.

ROMANCE FROM THE SPANISH.

Ventant fields bloom fresh and sweet
Where the waves of Tormes flow;
For she comes with tripping feet,
Culling flowers which round her grow.

On the fertile meads around,
And the forest's cool green ground,
Where her footsteps touch the bloom,
May each bud break forth in bloom!
While the sun with fiery heat
Now in brightest colors glow;
For she comes with tripping feet,
Culling flowers which round her grow.

Deep pearls the rosy dawn
Casts down from its portal's height,
And upon the verdant lawn
Crystal drops are gleaming bright.
While the sun with fiery heat
Like a ruby gem doth glow;
For she comes with tripping feet,
Culling flowers which round her grow.

Now a gentle perfumed breeze
Over the waving herbage plays;
While beside the leafy trees
Nightingales in soft notes lay.
The bright nascent flowers to greet,
With sweet voices twittering low;
For she comes with tripping feet,
Culling flowers which round her grow.

—Translated by Harwood Swift.

Rural Scene in India.

For the last 100 miles much of the country was pretty. The mango and other orchards are abundant and every plain had its many scattered trees. Barley was added as a growth, and was well headed and green. Fences, where there were any, were of cactus and prickly pear. The spicer wells over them well clouded with dust, looked like great goblets well spread over the spiky hedge. Rows of aloes or century plants lined the road. Now and then, vision would penetrate as far as the eye could reach, through openings in the trees, and the prospect was that of a fertile, green, and well-watered land. One odd thing is frequently seen—small round circles or mounds topped by cactus, three to five feet high, and say four to six in diameter. I have since found these to be protection for young trees. They protect against intrusion and against hot sun rays.—Carter Harrison's Letter.

Remarkable Showing for Mormondom.

The great bulk of the people of Utah are agriculturists. Their possessions are in lands and herds. The statistics show that 90 per cent. of Mormon families own their own homes. There is no other community on earth which will make a like showing. There is not an almshouse, or the necessity for one, in any of the exclusively Mormon settlements. With the exception of the mines, every other industry in Utah is kept alive by Mormon labor and Mormon patronage. The Mormons supply the most reliable non-striking class of laborers in the whole intermountain region.

The agricultural and pastoral products of Utah for 1890, according to the estimates furnished by the governor of the territory, were sufficient to produce a total of more than $5,000,000.—Delegate John T. Caine.

Italian Restaurants in New York.

A young New Yorker need not be very old to remember when the reputable restaurants of the city bearing Italian names and serving an Italian table d'hôte might have been counted upon the fingers of one hand. French cooking was then the proper thing, and to express a positive opinion for Italian cooking was regarded as eccentric or to be as one among many. But gradually fair Italy's cuisine became an acquired taste—or a pretended one, which meant the same to the proprietor's pocket—and now there are enough Italian restaurants in New York to supply with the population of Florence.—New York Cor. Chicago Herald.

New Method of Making Barrels.

Barrels are now being made of hard and soft wood, each alternate stave being of the soft variety and slightly thicker than the hard wood stave. The edges of the staves are cut square, and when placed together to form the barrel, the outside are even, and there is a V-shaped crack between each stave from top to bottom. In this arrangement the operation of driving the hoops forces the edges of the hard staves into the soft ones until the cracks are closed, and the extra thickness of the latter causes the inner edges to lap over those of the hard wood staves, thus making the joint doubly secure.—Chicago Times.

She Recalled Her Reward.

Potts had just returned from an extended trip abroad, and was making his first call upon a young lady friend.
"My gracious, Miss Jennie, how you have changed! Why, you are a mere shadow of your former self. Aren't you well?"
"Well, no, Mr. Potts. You see, shortly after your departure I joined the cooking school, and there we are obliged to sample everything we make. I am now a hopeless dyspeptic."
"How horrible! Really, I pity you from the bottom of my heart."
"You are very kind, Mr. Potts, but I feel positive that I shall reap my reward," and here the young lady blushed painfully.
"Reward! Really, I do not comprehend."
"Then, with a graceful flutter of clinging drapery, she crossed to his side, gave him a 'his long year' expression, laid her left ear over his chest protector and gently murmured:
"Willie, dear, I can make biscuits such as your mother used to make."
With a wild cry of joy he took the trembling form in his great strong arms and their happiness was so intense that it could have been cut with a knife.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

No Temptation.

"And so you have brought my beautiful Alphonsa home, have you, like an honest man, instead of keeping him yourself, as you might easily have done?" said the delighted lady as she fondled the poodle. "Were you not strongly tempted to keep the darling creature?"
"No, mum," replied the incorruptible man, as he pocketed the $3 reward. "It wasn't temptation. I couldn't have sold his hide for two bits at this season of the year, mum."—Chicago Tribune.

The people of Portland, Ore., are taking steps to induce the legislature to establish a vast park in the Cascade mountains. It is designed to have the park include Mount Hood and Crater Lake, which would make it a formidable rival of Yellowstone park.

"R, THERE"

Reuben Redway's Reduced Romance Respecting Rhoda Remington.

Reuben Redway reared roses, red radishes, rutabagas, raspberries, rue, rosemary, rhododendrons, raised rustic racks round rural retreats.

Rhoda Remington raveled rugs, ripped round boots, rolled rags, read romances, ruminates, rambled round rugged ruins. Rhoda's respectable relatives resented Reuben's rural rooms, rare, retired, restful, refined retreats! Radiant red roses, ravishing radishes ran riot, royal rutabagas rustled ragged robes, reared rebelliously, reeds rattled, running rascals revealed.

Recent rains rendered Reuben restless, rutabagas rotted, red radishes rusted, Reuben's rural reduced, Reuben's rates. Reuben rebelled, resisted roughly, resented rudely, resigned.

Remembering Rhoda's ragged rugs, Reuben re-rolled raveled rugs repaid. Reuben's rains roared, railroad rumbled, ruin rioted ravenously, reductions resulted.

Rhoda, rarely raveling rugs, rashly ran sacked rank rustic racks; read rural romances; reclined rusted.

Reuben rapidly reaping ripe rye, reached Rhoda's retreat.

Rare, radiant, rosy Rhoda retired, rambled round, rattled, returns.

Rascally Reuben, ranking rank rye, regards Rhoda; raves, recapitulates, recounts. Reluctant Rhoda refuses, reflects, regards Reuben reproachfully, remorsefully. Reuben remonstrates. Rhoda retorts resentfully. Reuben retreats, repudiates.

Rhoda reconsiders, replies retaining Reuben's ring, ribbons, roses, raven ringlets, renders Reuben reluctant, ruin retires, relates, Rhoda, Reuben rejoices. Rash renders ruin—reunion results. Respectfully, RATTLEBRAINED RUTH.

—The Column.

A Learned Wife.

She knows every modernism and, as from a lunatic prison, each philosophy and philosophy is reflected from her mind. Knows the standing, scope and status of the De-cause, Kant and Plato, in philosophy and psychology she wades in and goes it blind.

She will talk you to paralysis with her "chemical analysis" with "trichotomy" and "philobotomy" on her victim she will bounce. She will kill you if your killable, with her sound ing, thirteen syllable, ancient, alien, sea quipedian words no fellow can pronounce.

But her husband, helpless sinner, eats his bread and water dinner; luckless fellow in the cellar, thro' his nose dyspeptic days. For his lovely wife bewitching piles the tables in the kitchen with the lexicons of old Nestle and with cy-clo-pedias.

And without a curse or stammer thro' large piles of Sanscrit grammar with agility and ability picks his way round his cat. And the big hole in his "trousers" no sweet wifely aid aromes, with complacency and patience he conceals it with his hat.

—The Yankee Blade.

A Tremendous Achievement.

Keeping Domesticity in Order.

I heard of one Parisian lady who dismisses every servant in her employ every six months. Her theory is that the constant removal of her household personnel tends to keep her domestics in good order. She gets the cream, so to speak, of their services, and just about the time they settle down into lazy habits she gets rid of them. But in less extensively appointed establishments there are plenty of good steady girls to be met with, who know how to work and who do their work faithfully and conscientiously. The worst class of the French servants are to be met with in the grandest of Parisian homes; the best kept on the even tenor of their way in quiet households where two, or at the most three, servants are kept. And Marie in Paris has one overwhelming advantage over Bridget, Gretchen or Dinah in the United States: whatever she under-takes to do she knows how to do. She has her family, and they are grave ones, consequently, but lack of capacity to perform the service for which she has engaged herself is not among them.—Mrs. Frank Leslie.

Uses for Oxygenized Water.

A German authority recommends bydrogen peroxide for a variety of domestic purposes. Being inodorous and non-poisonous, it is a desirable substitute for chlorine of lime and oxalic acid for bleaching and removing stains of every description. It whitens yellowed fabrics and articles of bone or ivory. It is the best application for cleansing and blinding wounds and sores; and has a most beneficial effect in diphtheria, croup, whooping cough, etc. "Bleeding is stopped by its use. A weak solution will remove disagreeable tastes and smells from the mouth, or purify the atmosphere of a sick room when sprayed into it. Pots, pans and wooden vessels may be freed from foul odors by peroxide of hydrogen, and it will sweeten and preserve butter and keep fresh meat for a long time.—Arkansas Traveler.

When Turning the Leaves.

It is stated upon medical authority that readers should refrain from damping their fingers in turning over the leaves of library books, as this is a sure way to attract any stray bacilli that may be lurking around.—Chicago Herald.
